Design Your Next Season

What if the next chapter of your life or career isn't something you simply step into—but something you intentionally create?

Life Reimagined is a 2-day workshop for women standing at a threshold of change, feeling called to something beyond New Year's Resolutions. Through reflection, visioning, meaningful conversation, and intentional design, you'll reconnect with what matters most and begin shaping a life that feels vibrant, purposeful, and authentically your own.

Who this is for:

Designed for conscious, purpose-driven women who sense there is more waiting to be lived, created, or expressed, this transformative experience invites you to pause, reflect, and intentionally design the year ahead.

Whether you're ready to launch a business, bring a creative vision to life, spark a movement, deepen your legacy, reimagine your career, or create a lifestyle that feels more aligned with who you are becoming, this is your time to turn possibility into purposeful action.

This isn't about creating another list of resolutions you'll abandon by March.

It's about creating a year that reflects the life you genuinely want to live.

Come with your questions, dreams, unfinished ideas, and even the parts of your life that no longer fit.

Leave with clarity, courage, a renewed sense of possibility, and a purposeful action plan for your next chapter.

What you will experience:

Through this virtual journey, you'll step away from the noise and create space to discover what truly matters now.

- Reimagine what's possible for your future.
- Clarify your vision and identify what you most want to experience, create, and contribute.

- Reconnect with your values, talents, passions, and needs so your choices reflect who you truly are.
- Release limiting beliefs, fears, and old expectations that may be keeping you from moving forward.
- Identify your priorities and possibilities for the year ahead.
- Transform your vision into a clear New Year Action Plan with meaningful goals, milestones, and next steps.
- Create intentional practices and accountability to help you move from inspiration to action.

Included:

- Access to the Soul Digg eCourse on Thinkific
- Introductory Open House group session to jump start the year
- 2 “live” daylong sessions with Beth Bryce
- Connection to other inspiring women on an intimate level
- Breakouts, Hot Seat spotlight, brainstorming on your progress

How to register

Your next season is waiting to be imagined—and perhaps it's time to give your dreams a little more room to breathe.

It would be a joy and an honor to walk alongside you as you put your heart's intentions into words, and create a meaningful action plan for the year ahead.

Ready to begin? To join me, simply complete the following:

- Email Beth for online payment instructions to hold your spot!
- Receive your welcome packet with instructions, Thinkific access, and a detailed agenda.
- Spots are limited.
- Contact Beth with any questions!

Program investment – $347*

- Includes the entire cost of the Life Reimagined workshop – eCourse and four (4) 'live' sessions, and two bonus coaching offers!
- Registration and payment are due by 12/15/26.
- Due to the limited nature of this group, we will not issue refunds due to cancellation. However, you will still have access to the eCourse.
- If you can't make the 'live' calls, they will be recorded for replay.

Your next season starts here...

You don't have to have it all figured out. You simply need the willingness to imagine that something different—and something deeply meaningful—is possible.

Give yourself permission to dream beyond what has been, listen to what is calling you forward, and create a year that reflects the woman you are becoming.

Your life is not finished unfolding.

There is still so much to create, experience, contribute, and become.

Let's reimagine what's possible—and then take the first courageous steps toward making it real.

Your next chapter begins with you.
